

93
POINTS

Château Coussin 2014 Cuvée César à Sumeire Rosé (Côtes de Provence Sainte-Victoire)

8+ by Roger Voss

This is as serious as Provence rosé can get. It is a limited production wine, selected from the best Grenache (75%) and Syrah (25%) parcels. Structured and impressively dense, its red fruits are concentrated, bone-dry and with a textured character. It is ready to drink although it will become richer from early 2016. The Sumeire family arrived in the Sainte Victoire mountain range in the 13th century.

— (7/1/2015) — 93

90
POINTS

Château Maupague 2014 Rosé (Côtes de Provence Sainte-Victoire)

8+ by Roger Voss

From vines in the shadow of the Mont Sainte-Victoire, this is a tight, mineral-driven wine. It is crisp, textured and full of lively acidity. Dry and tangy, it's just right for food this summer.

— (7/1/2015) — 90

88
POINTS

Château l'Afrique 2014 Rosé (Côtes de Provence)

8+ by Roger Voss

Soft while keeping attractive raspberry acidity, this is a fruity wine. A nice tang of orange goes on to of the crisp texture and bright aftertaste.

— (7/1/2015) — 88

86
POINTS

Château Coussin 2014 La Croix du Prieur Rosé (Côtes de Provence)

8+ by Roger Voss

From one of a group of chateaus owned by the Sumeire family, Coussin's second wine is tangy, textured and with lively acidity. The texture is as important as the fruit, giving a mineral edge to the acidity. The red fruits finish with an attractive lift.

— (7/1/2015) — 86

84
POINTS

Château Maupague 2014 Cabaret Rosé (Côtes de Provence)

8+ by Roger Voss

Herbal aromas give a grassy wine that is textured and tangy. This seems to miss out on real fruitiness, although the final acidity is attractive.

— (7/1/2015) — 84

Expert Reviews

In Magazine: 7/1/2015